Subject: DPA (OCC) cover-up - investigator sabotage of complaints, coordinated malpractice
Date: Wednesday, February 21, 2018 5:24:39 PM

Tonight DPA Director Paul Henderson is set to finally present the Department of Police Accountability's 2016 Annual Report (item 3b) - which has been intentionally swept under the rug for more than half a year.

While this may seem to be water under the bridge - with the passage of Prop. G and ugly departure of Joyce Hicks - it shows in clear relief that OCC\DPA investigators led by politically motivated SEIU stewards did engage in sabotage and malpractice - a 20%+ slowdown in 2016 to undermine Hicks.

All well and good - as Hicks had her faults - EXCEPT, EXCEPT for the huge collateral damage, the dozens of possibly valid complaints NOW lost to a 1-year statute of limitations EVERY QUARTER (42 in 3Q17, "Days to Close", page 30), the inability to even flag officers in those cases for Early Intervention - or to properly clear those who've done nothing wrong.

We'd like to draw your attention to the chart here ("OCC Case Closures by Investigator", page 26). It shows clear evidence that a stable set of investigators agreed to slow to a certain number of closures. Looks to be about 33 - and despite a decline in caseloads ("OCC Case Caseloads by Investigator", page 24).

OCC/DPA directors - longterm, acting, interim - have come and gone but Groundhog Day always rears its head again. The problem is as its always been - SEIU investigators and clerks who can't or won't do their jobs, management and a police commission unwilling or unable to do anything in the face of their powerful, corrupt union.

Until next time...

See also - how DPA investigators continue to lose dozens of cases to 1-year statute every quarter - committing malpractice both against wronged complainants and properly acting officers. This despite voters approving Prop G. with a huge budget increase and the vaunted appointment of Ed Lee's crony as director.

Perhaps time - finally - to consider another model of civilian oversight?
